Introduction to

Lets Learn Turkish Together

If you are looking in on this section, then it is likely that like us you have an interest in learning Turkish. Welcome to our group, there are no teachers here, but we have some very good Turkish lessons to follow. This will not be like attending an evening class, study when it's best for you, if you miss a day or even 10, unlike a class, you won't have been left behind. The group will still be here ready for you to pick up where you left off.

Unlike many Turkish lessons we will do our best to make learning a little more fun. You will not be seeing long lists of words to remember or subjected to intense grammar lessons. You will learn by conversation. You will be given a full conversation that is easily identified with (in Turkish) also enough words and clues to allow you to easily translate back into English and by the time you have completed the translation without even trying you will find a lot has sunk in. Go through the conversation as many times as you need and hey presto its time to go out and practice what you've learnt.

Just 1 Rule - Enjoy Teaching Yourself, Have Fun Learning and Don't Stress. Always remember we are a group and there will be times when one of us will find a certain exercise difficult to understand, that's the time to post a message, let someone else who is finding that particular part easier help you along. Likelihood is that you will be able to help them through a difficult stage at some time.

Whenever you choose to learn, make yourself as comfortable as you can, be relaxed, don't struggle if the exercise gets too difficult put it down and come back to it later. No need to sit in front of the computer, just copy of the part you need.
